Lincoln-Way, Evergreen Park Play 6-6 Tie

Lincoln-Way gained a 6-all tie with Evergreen Park last Saturday afternoon in a game that remained up in the air until the final gun.

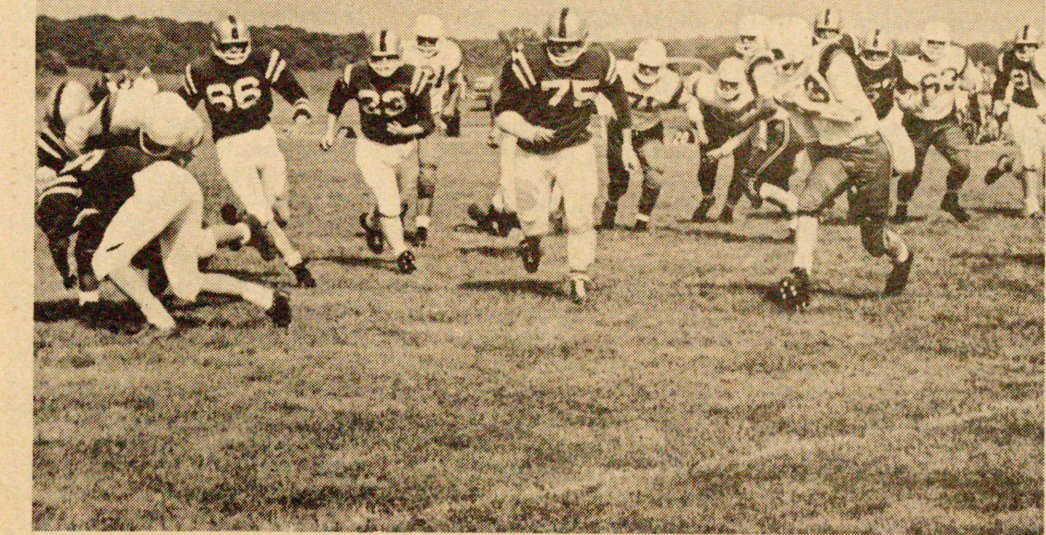

Lincoln-Way scored in the first quarter as Van DeLay pounded over from one-yard out with 3:40 remaining in the first period. A run for the extra point was nullified as officials detected an illegal procedure infraction on the part of the Knights. Kurt Fredin's pass on the replay to Jim Nicholson was completed but Nicholson was tripped up just inches short of the all important goal line.

Evergreen Park came back with the kickoff, driving from their own 30-yard line in a series of 12 plays which ended in the tying TD on the first play in the second quarter. Lincoln-Way's Ron Badten latched onto a backfield fumble on the extra point try to save the game for the Knights.

Pacing the Knights was all-conference contender Van DeLay who turned in a brilliant game in both offensive and defensive action. DeLay showed up in the right place at the right time all afternoon long as he kept the Knights in contention right up to the final gun.

Kurt Fredin, Knights quarterback, came in for plaudets with his booming punts. Time and again, Lincoln-Way kept the Evergreen Park Mustangs in their own territory, mainly on the strength of Fredin's kicking shoe.

Lincoln-Way moved to the Mustang's 19-yard line the second time the Knights gained possession of the ball before a fourth down pass went straying to end the march momentarily. After Rich Schlogel pulled a 5-yard sneak, Lincoln-Way's Joe Wajchert latched onto a fumble at the Mustang 14-yard line, set up by a strong rush on the part of the Knights' line. Ron DeLay slammed to the 9,

Sonic Booms And Siren Alarm Mokena Residents

On the heels of the two terrific blasts that rocked the area last Friday forenoon the Mokena civil defense siren began wailing and residents of the village came popping out of homes and stores to scan the sky and countryside for any indication of what had happened or was happening.

Blasts and siren were unrelated, it was discovered quickly, but there were some moments when there was genuine alarm. The blasts were sonic booms, generated when two F-106's of the U.S. Air Force in a maneuver over the Chicago area were ordered to break the sound barrier. The siren was a fire alarm, occasioned by a grass fire east of the village.

The alarm must have been turned in at the same time the blasts were heard because the siren started up just a few seconds later. While the blasts were quite loud it is not likely they would have caused much interest, nor would have the sound of the siren had they come separately but when they came together people didn't know if a bomb had been dropped or some horrible disaster involving refinery or gas products had occurred.

The absence of smoke in the sky caused many to guess sonic boom while others were positive gas lines had blown up. A few attributed the noise to quarry blasting but that theory was not generally acceptable on the ground that the sound was too loud.

Mokena and Will county authorities received calls from excited persons, demanding to know the origin of the noise and the telephones at this newspaper were also swamped with calls.

First reports to reach the newspapers were that the pipe line of a natural gas carrier had been blown out—purposefully, but while these reports were being checked and found wanting, came the report that the blasts came from air force jets breaking the sound barrier. These reports were confirmed but it was not until Friday afternoon that the air force gave any details.

A mock attack was being made on the area and these two F-106's were directed to break the sound barrier in an effort to intercept this theoretic invader that was coming at a pace faster than sound.

It was explained that in traveling at almost 800 miles an hour—which is faster than the speed of sound—shock waves are set up by the passage of the plane as waves are set up on water by the passage of a boat, and as the water waves cause a sound when they strike against shore or shore installation the shock waves set up by the high speed plane also make a sound when they hit the earth—and it is a loud sound.

The waves also set up quite a shock. As a result of the sonic boom in the area last Friday considerable damage was reported to buildings in certain sections. No property damage was reported in Frankfort—New Lenox or Orland townships area but up in DuPage county the shock caused a porch to separate from the house, a number of windows were shattered and there was an instance of a woman being lifted out of a chair as she sat rocking on her front porch. There were instances too of ceilings and walls cracking as a result of the sonic booms.

The blast Friday was felt over an estimated 1,300 square mile area including Chicago and the west and southwest suburbs.

Fire, Smoke And Water Wreck Interior of Planter's Club

Fire of undetermined origin broke out in the Planter's club at the southwest corner of Wolf rd. and 159th st. Monday afternoon and by the time it could be gotten under control smoke and water had ruined most of the interior of the establishment. It was believed the damage would exceed $30,000, according to unofficial estimates.

No one was in the building when the fire broke out, it was stated. Persons in the area saw smoke and called the Orland Park fire department. The alarm came in about 1:40 and it was about 4:30 when the Orland Park department pulled its last truck out.

The club was owned by Mrs. Florence Guzzino, of Chicago Heights, who with her son Samuel, was in charge of its operation.

This corner has been occupied by numerous lessees since it was known as Schragge's. The Guzzinos took over this summer and opened for business Aug. 30. They had installed wall-to-wall carpeting in all the rooms, bought new equipment and had the place redecorated. Just recently they had installed air conditioning at a cost of over $4,000, according to Samuel Guzzino.

The house specialized on its food but also had some entertainment at the piano bar, and Guzzino said business has been very good. They were well satisfied with the location, he added.

They had planned to have their grand opening about mid-October, he said, and only recently had confirmation that George Jessel, comic and international toastmaster, had been booked for the occasion.

There is insurance but it was said that it would not cover the loss.

Orland Park firemen said that when they arrived there was a small amount of fire in a stairway leading up from the basement and there was also a fire in the attic but some distance from the stairway blaze.

Orland Fire Chief Arthur Granat said he was asking the state fire marshal's office to make an investigation.

Firemen made an excellent stop of the blaze, and kept it from spreading below the attic and into the outer walls. Tons of water had to be used and that of course ran down thru the ceiling and the walls and onto the floor covering. The water plus the smoke caused considerable damage to the dining rooms. A portion of the roof at the south end of the building was destroyed by flame.

When Orland Park firemen arrived they immediately invoked the aid of the Community Firemen's Association to which it belongs and the Des Plaines Valley Firemen's Association. Tinley Park sent apparatus to the scene and Mokena was asked to send its water truck. Both fire districts in Homer township sent apparatus and men and Lockport not only filled in for Homer but also had a truck at the fire.

Frankfort School Board To Dedicate New Addition

Dedication of the new addition to the Frankfort grade school is scheduled for the afternoon of

Sunday, Oct. 7.

The ceremony is set for 2:30 o'clock and the program will last approximately three-quarters of an hour. Following this the public will have an opportunity to go thru the building.

Besides the addition there was some remodeling to the original plant. Tours of the building will continue up to 5 p.m.

All residents of the community and friends are invited. Refreshments will be served by the Frankfort PTA.

County Superintendent Verne E. Crackel will be the principal speaker at the dedication. The program in detail will be announced later.

The new addition has space for six class rooms, two of which are now in one and is used for multi-purposes. It is now a music room, a lunch room and also used to accommodate classes.

The remodeling included work in the wash rooms and the gymnasium and other portions of the old building.

With the new addition and the remodeling the school now has adequate office and supply storage space and a study for the teaching staff.

The new addition used about $120,000 of the $145,000 bond issue. The remainder of the money was needed for the remodeling, architect, engineering and legal fees, equipment, grounds etc.

79 Year-Old Driver Dies In Collision of Compacts

A 79-year-old man is dead as a result of a collision between two foreign make compact cars on Wednesday of last week (Sept. 19) at 159th st. and LaGrange rd.

The man, James Nisbet, of Idaho Springs, Colo., died Sunday at Oak Forest hospital. He suffered internal injuries and a spinal injury that had left him paralyzed.

He was the driver of one of the cars. The other car was driven by Mrs. Sophie Munday, of 9431 Pine st., Arbury Hills. Mrs. Munday was taken to Oak Forest hospital too. It was said there that her injuries did not appear to be serious. She has since been transferred to another hospital, it was learned this week.

Still in Oak Forest is Mrs. Jessie Nisbet, 81, wife of the crash victim. She has practically recovered from the shock and bruises she suffered and this week was awaiting arrival of relatives from the west to accompany her home.

According to the report of state police covering the accident, Nisbet was driving east on 159th street and was given a ticket charging him with having failed to stop for the red traffic signal. He is alleged to have struck the Munday vehicle broadside. Mrs. Munday was heading north on LaGrange road. The accident took place about 10:15 in the morning.

There were four other occupants in the car driven by Mrs. Munday, Mary Munday, 27, Michelle, 1 year old, Laura Munday, 2, and a nephew, Michael Mackowiak, 3 years old. All were taken to Oak Forest hospital for a check and released.

The Nisbets were the only occupants of their car.

Race Sunday Aids Tony's Memorial Hospital Fund

The Tony Bettenhausen Memorial Hospital Funds gets into top gear Sunday afternoon (Sept. 30) when Illiana Speedway features the big league auto racing circuit. U.S.A.C.'s late model division stars and cars in a special seven-event program, including a 24-car field of the fastest qualifiers in a 100-lap (50 miles) feature final on the paved half mile oval.

All advance indications assure a record purse well in excess of the $4,000 minimum guarantee already put up by Illiana to bring the top talent and equipment available for this first annual running of the Tony Bettenhausen Memorial Hospital Fund race meet.

The tight battle being waged among U.S.A.C.'s top three stock car competition leaders—Paul Goldsmith, Norm Nelson and Don White—is further enhanced by a battle clear down the line for points that decide the leaders, as well as the "slices of the point fund melon to be awarded at the end of the season.

The winner of the Illiana feature Sunday will have his name engraved on the 50-inch high trophy, with the date and the name of the track on which it is won. This will be a perpetual trophy with the winner of each of the annual races to receive a replica of the larger cup. Eddie Banjura and William Harris of the Allied Auto Supply, Hammond, are giving the trophy and replicas. The trophy is on view today and tomorrow at Schuldt Motor Sales on Oak Park ave., Tinley.

Miss Sandra Harwood, of Frankfort, beauty queen crowned at the annual Tinley Park fall festival earlier this month will present the trophy to the winner Sunday.

Detroit is said to be keeping an eye on the results of Sunday's race as they get consideration in future automotive designing.

A special Memorial Program booklet honoring the late Tony Bettenhausen also will be available race day. Proceeds from the sale of the booklet will be added to the net gate receipts from the racemeet and the whole turned over to the Memorial Hospital Fund at Tinley.

Illiana is located on U.S. 30, two miles east of U.S. 41, Schererville, Ind.

The gates will open at 12 noon with warm-up and practice runs getting under way at 12:30. The time trials are set for 1:30 with the first race starting promptly at 2:30, it was announced.

Hunt Addicts For Burglary of Drug Store

A report on the theft of narcotics in the course of the burglary of the Mokena Pharmacy on Tuesday night or Wednesday morning of last week has been made by the store owner, Daniel Kubler, to the federal narcotics bureau. The case also is being investigated by Mokena police.

Besides a quantity of drugs the thief or thieves also took eight dozen hypodermic needles of various sizes valued at approximately $25 and $30 in cash, $10 from the cash register and $20 from the petty cash fund box in the rear of the store.

The drugs taken would have a legitimate value of some $30 but would bring several times that price if peddled by dope pushers.

The burglar or burglars opened all of the drawers in the prescription case and inspected all of the medications kept in the refrigerator in the search for narcotics. Nothing else in the store was touched except for one odd thing—a bottle of 500 penicillin tablets was carried off.

Entry was gained thru a window after the glass was broken above the lock and the sash unlatched. The person doing this apparently cut himself severely because their was blood on the floor.

500 At Farewell Reception For The Rev. & Mrs. Bizer

About 500 people attended open house for the Rev. and Mrs. Erich Bizer Sunday afternoon and evening. It was held in the fellowship hall of the Saint Peter's church. The hall was decorated with various fall floral pieces.

The honored couple received a purse from the congregation and numerous other gifts from other guests. Included in the guest list were pastors and their wives from Frankfort and surrounding communities.

The Rev. Bizers left Monday morning for their new home at 2212 Sycamore st., Quincy, Ill. after serving the Frankfort church for practically 20 years. He has served in the ministry 45 years and several months ago decided to retire.

Many of those present to say farewell had been baptized or confirmed by the Rev. Mr. Bizer, and the number also included many couples that had married.

Under his leadership the church plant has been expanded thru the erection of an educational building and the membership also has shown a steady growth.

The Rev. and Mrs. Bizer have been quite active in the community life of Frankfort and it was with sincere regret that friends, neighbors and members of the congregation told them goodbye.

Blame Women For Theft At Farm Home

Two women -- possibly gypsies the report at the sheriff's office says -- invaded the Fred Wannamacher farm home on 17th street north of Mokena Friday afternoon and after they had left it was found that a man's watch with a gold band and a purse containing 50 pennies were missing.

According to the report Miss Nette Wannamacher was home alone about 3 o'clock when a car halted in front of the house and two women got out and came to the door.

When Miss Wannamacher opened the door in response to their knocks one of the women pushed into the house. While Miss Wannamacher was endeavoring to get this woman out the other woman came in and apparently went thru the place like a breeze.

A man's Gruen Watch, and the purse with the pennies were taken from Mr. Wannamacher's bedroom. He came home just as the women were driving away. Both the women were long, full skirts Miss Wannamacher told deputies.

Mr. Wannamacher told investigators that two weeks ago a man and a woman came to the house and tried to gain entrance.

Summit Hill Voters O.K. Bond Issue

Arbury Hills is to have an addition to its school plant. Four classrooms and a multipurpose room are to be added to the eight room structure as a result of the bond issue referendum held last Saturday, Sept. 15.

A bond issue of $115,000 was approved by the voters by a margin of 54 votes.

The unofficial returns were as follows: Yes. . . . 163 No. . . . 109

The board of education can now go ahead with plans for the new school.

An architect has been hired and will begin work in the final plans soon, it was said.

An intensive campaign was conducted by proponents of the proposal but there was also some organized opposition.

Past elections in which Lincoln-Way high school sought approval of bond issues have found Arbury Hills giving good support.

"We will do our utmost to merit the confidence of the people of the district," said H. James Wrath, new superintendent, "and give them a good school."

Present enrollment is 256.

This has been necessary to keep pace with this fast growing area. To service the new cars properly, he has found it desirable to add the additional service facilities.

To celebrate the opening of the new additions and the showing of the 1963 Chevrolets, Jack O'Donnell will have a celebration starting on Friday, Sept. 28. During the celebration they will have free refreshments, ladies will receive free gifts and there will be gifts for the children. There will be two prizes awarded. The first prize will be a mink stole, the second prize a television set. The awards will take place on Oct. 8.

Radar A Speed Deterrent

The use of radar in clocking heavy-footed motorists has a pronounced deterring effect on speeders, according to police.

A policeman equipped with a modern radar device can clock cars going, coming or at right angles without stirring from his position. And if he cares to he can remove the equipment from his car, set it up at the side of the road -- or in a tree for that matter -- and still be in business.

The fact that a motorist does not or may not see the device is one of the reasons why radar is so effective in this constant battle against speed. The automobile manufacturers attempt to outdo one another in building faster cars, and the speed race started in the factory winds up on the highways, too frequently with fatal results.

Most of the traffic accidents that take such a fearful toll each year in life, suffering and monetary loss can be traced to speed, the records show, so anything that can be done to save the speed driver from himself should be attempted.

So when a motorist knows that his speed may be noted on radar he is more apt to drive circumspectly than if the only thing he has to look out for is a squad car traveling the same direction as himself.

Clocking a car by trailing same with another car or motorcycle is still a standard practice but is not recommended for small communities where there is not enough space for a proper clock.

That is why radar is preferred in small towns and villages.

One hears some grumbling about it from motorists but actually they are the last persons who should complain about radar. The device is accurate and the clock is there, locked at the speed he was doing when the operator hit the button and the motorists is welcome to see the clock. In fact in most instances he is urgently invited to take a look and convince himself that he was really doing 55 instead of the 25 or 35 he claims.

Radar is really a protection for the motorist. If he is not exceeding the speed limit radar is not going to show that he was.

The towns that are bad for motorists are the ones with police who are either clairvoyant or have a brain that can out-radar radar. The testimony of these curbstone mind-timers -- it is regrettable to say -- is sometimes accepted by magistrates as evidence and motorists required to pay fines. That is decidedly wrong. Guess work should not be employed. Radar removes the guessing.

Radar and arrests are not going to eliminate speeding but they can have a curbing effect and we can certainly use that.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

"I see in one of your trade papers," said Jefferson P. Throtheadbottom as he settled himself in a chair that he shoved along the desk to a point where he could help himself to my cigars without any exertion, "that one of the magazine people is taking the newspaper people apart." He contends that the people in the production end have greater vision, more imagination than do the people in the news end.

"I do not know that this is true," Jeff went on, after firing up a cigar, "and if it is I do not know if it is a good thing for the trade. I have known a few editors in my time and as I recall them they had one thing in common -- an insistence on facts."

"Facts may be stodgy and dull at times but the reading public is entitled to have them. A reporter permitted to inject imagination and theories into a piece--without plainly labeling them as such-- can be a trial, for in that way lies libel, or embarrassment."

"I remember once when a reporter on one of the more sensational papers came up with a story of a gambling ship plying Lake Michigan. He came up with several exclusive stories, filled with description and dripping with detail. The stories were well written and sold a lot of papers. The other papers were frantic and protestations by their best men that they could find no trace of this floating palace of chance only drew cold looks from their editors and the ultimatum of find it or else--"

"I don't know what might have happened -- mass firings perhaps on the other sheets--had not the editors on the writers own paper became suspicious and put their man thru a thoro cross-examination that finally wrung out of him the admission that the ship did not exist."

"How to get out of it was a problem. Had the phantom ship been out in the middle of the Atlantic or the Pacific they could have had a boiler explosion that sent the vessel to the bottom with all hands and gamblers, with the only witness the captain of some fishing boat that in turn they could lose in a storm. But one can't blow up a ship in Lake Michigan without someone finding some trace."

OUR GROWING GOVERNMENT GIANT

Few persons have any concept of the size and range of the federal government's activities. Here are some of its dimensions. Our government:

1. Taxes and spends over $90 billion a year. This is $1 out of every $6 in goods and services produced in the United States.
2. Employs around 2.5 million civilians and around 2.8 million military personnel. This adds up to about 1 out of every 13 persons employed in the Nation.
3. Owns 767,766,435.4 acres of land. This is about 1 out of every 3 acres in the country.
4. Owns 421,360 buildings with nearly 215 billion square feet of floor space.
5. Has stored $15 billion of farms commodities and stockpiled strategic materials.
6. Owns $122 billion of military weapons, equipment, and supplies.
7. Has loaned $24 billion to veterans, home owners, businesses, farmers, and others.

Our government is the biggest spender, the biggest employer, the biggest property owner, the biggest tenant, the biggest insurer, the biggest lender, and the biggest borrower in all the world.

The more we ask Government to take over our problems, and with them a larger share of our incomes to finance their handling, the more the Government will grow. And the more it grows the taxes climb, the less freedom of choice will remain for us in our personal and community affairs.

"This was back before the days of the Newspaper--Guild and overtime and reporters were forever stretching thru assignments -- a six-day week into seven working days and nights, so when Am protested he had worked the past six Sundays plus Memorial day and Fourth of July, the only response was a grunt and a motion something like that of an umpire when he calls a man out, and well it might because it meant the same thing."

"Am told me about it one day. 'I was fed up,' he said, 'I had been putting in a lot of hours and I had also been putting quite a little thought into this party I had planned for that Sunday, the daytime portion of which included a ballgame since the Yankees were in town, and I didn't intend to miss it. And I didn't but about 10 o'clock Sunday morning I came down to the office and wrote a story about the dedication. I had seen those things, and pretty well knew the procedure. I had brought a copy of the Bible with me in case they didn't have one at the office because I figured that in writing the bishop's sermon it would be reasonable to toss in a few quotations here and there and where could one get better quotes for a sermon than from the Bible.'"

"Am finished his piece, tossed it in the basket on the city desk and went on to his fun and things. The next morning when he showed up the city editor, -- Kelly his name was -- was waiting."

"Good morning, Am," he said pleasantly, 'I see you had a busy day yesterday.'"

"Yeah," Am agreed, 'a very full day indeed.'"

"I see from your story that there was a good crowd at the dedication."

"Yes," Am admitted, 'there was a good crowd. And I guess the boss was right. That was a pretty important occasion if one is to use the presence of writers from several church papers and magazines as criterion.'"

"Kelly appeared impressed and Am, becoming interested in his own improvising, continued with his embroidery work. 'There was even a gal writer here from the Brooklyn Eagle,' Am went on, without batting an eye, 'altho I do not know why the Brooklyn Eagle would want to send a writer out here for this particular dedication unless it is because this bishop is quite an important guy and is known on a national level. She was telling me that she had to wire a story and since they don't have typewriters one can use at the telegraph office I invited her over here and let her use one of our machines. 'Very much,' enthused Am. 'A great guy and I gave his sermon a good play--one of the best sermons, incidentally, that I have ever heard.' 'That's fine,' Kelly said, 'now what do you make of this,' and he tossed a piece of wire copy in front of Am. It carried a Milwaukee dateline and was to the effect that on Saturday night as the bishop was about to board a train that was to carry him to a speaking engagement at such-and-such he had suffered a stroke and was hospitalized. 'And I might add, Am,' Kelly remarked pleasantly when Am had finished reading the dispatch, 'that the boss got back last night and wants to see you in his office.' 'Ambrose!' the old man thundered, when the hapless Am approached the scaffold, 'how long have you been working here?' 'H'mm,' Am thought a minute, 'why it would have been exactly 10 months and two weeks today, but you see I quit yesterday.'"

Washington News Letter

When President Kennedy wrathfully loosed his bolts of thunder and lightning at the offending head of Roger Blough, he thought he was closing an issue. However, he was opening up a far greater one, because he let loose an avalanche. The avalanche was a long time piling up and it will be a long time before all its effects are over.

At first people were stunned, but a few days later the avalanche was loosed by way of the stock market. The causes were many. The outflow of gold, the debt burden, the piling up of one new and unnecessary spending program after another, the farm bill with its provisions for a summer resort on every farm, the urban programs with their threat to the freedom of State and local government, the public works bill (or slush fund), all helped pile up the pressure before the avalanche broke.

First and foremost we would put the gold outflow as a cause. Foreign claims and the needs of the gold reserve simply add up to more gold than there is in the government stores, and these claims are growing as foreign aid, military expenditures abroad, and the volume of money in circulation keep increasing. The great importance of gold is that it is the way debts are settled with foreign creditors. Foreign governments, foreign banks, and business men know the truth. Governments can invent myths for home consumption, but foreign creditors look only at the cold facts. Propaganda washes off them like water off a duck's back.

Instead of facing up to the cold, harsh reality of the gold situation, our government is asking for more money for foreign aid, well knowing that that must increase the pressure on our gold reserves. We can now look for the deluge.

Cook Co. Board Studies Lot Size Restrictions

(CNS) On the motion of President Seymour Simon that he wanted to look into the ability of a court to control subdivision approval, the county board Wednesday recalled and deferred action after earlier having approved Silar's Resubdivision of Block 11 in Key-stone Addition to Chicago, bounded by 76th street, Lorel ave., 76th place, and Lockwood ave., in Stickney township.

Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington, had entered a declaratory judgment order upholding ten 38-foot and four 40-foot corner lots for the block, despite an R-4 Zoning which requires 10,000 square foot, or 60-foot frontage lots.

The suit, by William and Jeanette Bruinius and Arthur and Helen Talsma, against Cook county, charged that Block 11 was one of five blocks out of 15 in the subdivision on which the subdivision was vacated in 1879 for unstated reasons. The other ten blocks remained subdivided for 25-foot lots, and are improved now with "a high type of single family residences on an average frontage of 37 feet."

Thus the present owners argued that they are prevented from building on lots of the size used in surrounding lots, which legally could build on 25-foot lots, since the subdivision pre-dated the 1960 zoning ordinance.

Under the 10,000 sq. ft. minimum, only four houses could be built on the block, with 31,280 sq. ft. left over, and if a maximum 25 pct. variation were allowed, six houses, compared with 22 on the others.

As an added twist, attorney for the owners is John P. Murray, who is on the county consultant payroll having worked on both zoning and the recent Subdivision code, which he had declared unconstitutional in the court case. Commissioner Charles Chaplin recently questioned the expense of Murray's group of consultants, headed by Harry Chaddick, and said he would bring this up when the case is again considered.

Helpful Tips Given For The Kitchen Botanists

DAVID H. THOMPSON
Senior Naturalist
Cook Co. Forest Preserve
The corner grocery store and the local fruit stand offer a variety of plant materials that can be grown and studied in the schoolroom or laboratory. At any time of year, fruit seeds and root vegetables of many kinds can be made to germinate, take root and thrive indoors. In addition to those from the orchards, home gardens and truck farms of this region, it is possible to grow seedlings of a number of tropical fruits. Most of the contents of this bulletin are taken from a recent article by Blair

SEMMER NEWSPAPERS
Thursday, September 27, 1962

Courtesy, published in Turtox News.

A few simple supplies including flower pots, boxes or trays of garden soil are the only equipment needed. A school terrarium or leaky aquarium can be used to advantage. A good hand lens or microscope, though not essential, can show some of the finer details of roots, stems, leaves and developing seeds not visible to the naked eye.

The sweet potato, a member of the morning glory family, is a favorite indoor foliage plant with dark-green, heart-shaped leaves on long, running or climbing vines. It is grown by planting a tuber in a pot of rich soil or by setting about a third of its length in a jar of water. Root growth starts quickly and the vines may reach lengths of many feet in a single winter. Thin slices of the vine, cut with a razor blade, are excellent for the study of stem structure.

The common onion belongs to the lily family. Onion "sets" or dry onions of any size are easily grown in moist soil, or a large one can be placed in the top of a glass of water.

Thin sections of the new root tips are used in almost every biology laboratory to demonstrate cell division. Under a microscope the "skin" peeled from the leaf shows the stomata, or breathing pores, and the guard cells that control them. A flower pot with a thriving clump of chives, a small relative of onions, is kept in many homes to flavor salads and sandwiches.

Some of our commonest garden vegetables are kin to the mustards — cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, Brussels sprouts and radishes, to name a few. Others and among the simplest to grow indoors are large turnips and rutabagas. Planted in soil, they usually send up stalks and bear the typical four-petaled flowers of the family.

The seeds of oranges, lemons and grapefruit germinate readily in small containers of sandy loam or between layers of damp blotting paper. In pots of soil with warmth and moderate sunlight they grow slowly, produce shiny green foliage, and may bear fruit after the second or third year.

The single large seed of an avocado germinates, grows rapidly, and may become a tree several feet in height. The seed should be barely covered with soil in a large flower pot and kept warm and moist. If a pineapple with a crown of fresh green leaves is selected, the top can be made to grow if it is cut off just below the base of the leaves. It should be planted a half inch deep in a pot of moist sandy loam and kept in a warm sunny spot. Roots usually start within a week or two and it is not unusual for it to produce another small pineapple, on an upright stem, after four or five months.

Any kitchen has the makings of a botanical garden.

Three outdoor educational workshops for teachers, sponsored by the Cook county and Chicago superintendents of schools, will be held at Camp Sagawau this fall: Oct. 3, 4, 5; Oct. 10, 11, 12; Oct. 17, 18, 19. Application blanks have been sent to each school and its superintendent. For information call Miss Hill: Columbus 1-8400 or Forest 9-9420.

Pin Ball Games Have Free Roll In Cook County

(CNS) The Cook county board has the statutory authority to license, tax, regulate or prohibit pinball games, according to an opinion received today from the office of the state attorney. The opinion was written by Meyer Goldstein, assistant state attorney.

The opinion points out, however, that a serious legal question exists as to whether the county, under the proposed ordinance, has the power to fine or imprison one for any violation thereof.

There is at present no state statute which gives the county of Cook the same general powers as is given to the cities and villages of this state, says the opinion. The statute in question which provides that the county may license, tax, regulate or prohibit pinball games etc. is silent as to the method of punishment in the event of violation. Attention is also called to the fact that a coin-in-slot device whose operation depends in part upon the skill of the player shall not be considered a gambling device.

"Before any mechanical device can be destroyed there must be evidence to indicate that money or something of value has been staked as a bet, won or lost, upon the action of the machine," according to Goldstein.

Hints For Homeowners

BY: JAMES FIZZELL, ASSOC. FARM ADVISER

Fertilized newly planted trees carefully to avoid burning the roots. Fertilizer will burn tree roots unless it is mixed with the soil in the bottom of the hole. In addition to fertilizer, place in the bottom of the hole a layer of topsoil, a mixture of peat moss or manure and sub-soil.

Here are some more suggestions for planting trees:

SELECTION: In selecting trees remember that those with balled and burlapped roots have a greater chance of surviving than those with bare roots.

DEPTH OF HOLE: Dig the hole several inches deeper than the length of the balled and burlapped roots. If the soil is a hard clay, make the hole extra deep to provide adequate drainage. If the tree roots are wrapped, make a hole one foot wider than the wrapping.

SETTING THE TREE: Place the base of the tree one inch lower than the surrounding ground level. Place it with its good side facing out. Put in a little soil at a time, tamping it carefully to eliminate air pockets. When the hole is two-thirds full of soil fill it with water. After the water soaks in, fill it again with water. Then put in the rest of the soil. Water the tree during the fall to insure good root growth.

PRUNING: To compensate for loss of roots during transplanting, cut the side branches so that the tree is one-third of its original width. Never cut the top!

STAKING: Staking prevents movement of the tree that loosens the soil around the roots and creates air pockets. Staking also keeps the tree erect. WRAPPING: Wrap the tree trunk to prevent sunscald. Use a commercially prepared material available at most nurseries.

MULCHING: To help conserve moisture, place a mulch of ground corncobs two or three inches deep around the base of the tree.

The plants you use around your home ties your house to the ground and provides an attractive setting. Flowering shrubs can be used around your home for beauty and interest, as well as fragrance. Sandburg Harriers Run Victory String To 3-0

Adding two conference victories to its opening win against Lockport, the cross country team of Carl Sandburg high school this week ran its record to 3-0.

The Sandburg harriers dealt defeats to Homewood-Flossmoor's Vikings and Bremen's Braves during the week, both by narrow margins. The Vikings were 27-30 victims, and the Braves, last year's champions of the Southwest Suburban Conference, went down to a 26-29 defeat.

Jim Reeves and the Sedgwick brothers — Tim and Steve — were the key men in both victories. Reeves topped the field at the Homewood-Flossmoor course with a 9:51 time for the 1.9 miles and took a second at Bremen with a 9:56. Steve Sedgwick was third against both the Vikings, covering the course in 10:10, and the Braves, running a 10:03. His brother Tim was fourth against H-F in 10:14 and fifth against Bremen in 10:26.

Coach John Wilson's squad was represented by seven boys at the Riverside-Brookfield High School open meet Tuesday. Other harriers who scored for the Eagles in the twin victories last week are Gary O'Hara — seventh at H-F and tenth at Bremen — and Len Beesley — 13th at Homewood and 12th at Bremen.

The frosh-soph team lost its first game against Homewood-Flossmoor but bounced back against Bremen. Chuck Crowhurst, who may be moved up to varsity competition this week, turned in a 10:36 against the Vikings, better than the fifth varsity such as Butterfly bush, to very tall in the case of Japanese tree lilacs which may reach a height of over 30 feet. Other plants are available in all sizes in between.

Many people are familiar with some of the flowering shrubs such as lilacs, forsythia, and honeysuckle. There are many varieties of these three plants which in themselves can make an impressive display of color in spring.

Add to these the Viburnums, flowering plum, crab apple, dogwood and hydrangeas and you have a display which would be envied by any homeowner. Consider the flowering shrubs when planting your home surroundings. Many of them have another attractive feature such as brightly colored fruit or fall color. Most of them go nicely with evergreens.

sity man could do in that meet but good enough only for fourth place in the frosh-soph match. Doran Harding was fifth; George Walker, eighth; Dan Taylor, ninth; and Ted Messlin, tenth. Sandburg dropped the meet, 19-36.

It was a different story against Bremen, tho. Harding turned in a 10:46 to top the field, and he was followed by three Eagles — Crowhurst, Taylor, and Walker. Chuck Crowhurst was ninth, and Messlin was tenth as Sandburg took a 19-37 win to extend their record to 2-1.

The Upper Room

Having therefore obtained help of God, I continue unto this day, witnessing both to small and great. (Acts 26:22.)

A young man who worked beside Bob Smith, an inconspicuous office worker, noticed his amazing peace and joy, especially when in most trying and difficult circumstances. He asked him the reason for it. Smith said in reply: "God is my Father, and Jesus Christ is my Savior. Whatever peace and joy I have come to me from God."

The young man was so impressed with this explanation that he changed over to the Christian way of life. Simple words of witness were the underlying cause.

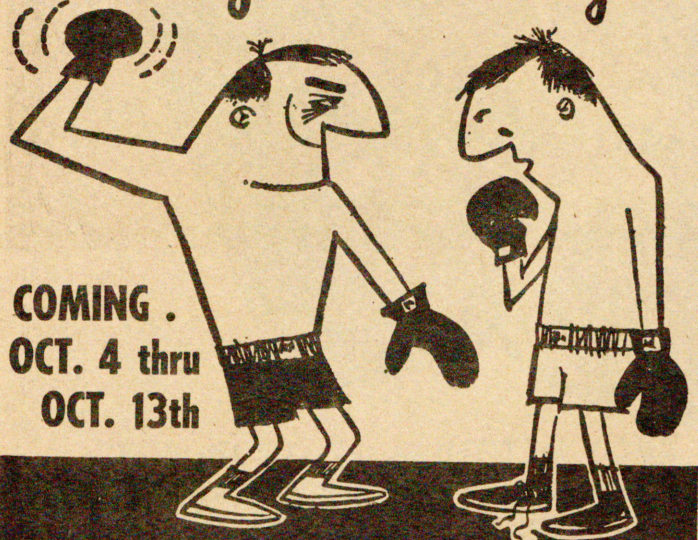

Just before our Lord ascended to the Father, He appointed His disciples as His witnesses. They had known Him and experienced His power in their lives. Experience was the basis of their witness. They went forth to tell others what Christ meant to them and could mean to others.

The Lord who used their witness then to bring many to Himself is doing the same today as we say our simple words to those whom we meet.

PRAYER: O God, we thank Thee for the living Christ, who has made us His Witnesses. Send us forth with the inspiration that no one's witness for Christ is unimportant. To Thy name's honor and glory and for our Redeemer's sake, Amen. THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

With the Holy Spirit to guide us, we can say the right word at the right time to some person.

Mr. Robert Bettenhausen poses atop the color TV set, along with an air conditioner, sewing machine, electric blanket, bottle warmer, phonograph, hair clippers, projector, radio, 2 heat pads, vacuum, and tree lights.

Little Bill reports:
46¢ worth of electricity a day
runs all these appliances for the Bettenhausens

Most folks are mighty surprised at the number of electric helpers they own. The Bettenhausens were. They now have many more electrical appliances than they started with and are actually using about three times as much electricity. But the Bettenhausens, like all of us, are paying less for it per kilowatt hour than they did years ago. One reason for this is the Power Grid System which connects our power lines with companies in thirty-two other states.

With this system we can often buy (or sell) power at advantageous rates which helps keep the price you pay down.

That's another reason why it costs so little to live better electrically today!

The R. Bettenhausens live in Tinley Park, Ill. Average cost of their electricity was computed by adding their electric bills for last year, Sept. 7, 1960, to Sept. 7, 1961, and dividing by 365 days. Naturally, costs vary according to a family's living habits.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN WEBER

Helen Sluis, John Weber Repeat Vows During Ceremony At St. Jude's

St. Jude's Church, New Lenox was the setting of the wedding ceremony for Helen Ann Sluis and John F. Weber.

The new Mrs. Weber is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sluis, 11505 West 192nd Street. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weber, 360 West Francis Road, New Lenox.

Couple were married at 11 o'clock the morning of July 28 with Rev. Faustine Klink, O.F.M., officiating. Mrs. Harry Griffin provided appropriate music on the organ, and also sang the Lord's Prayer.

Escorted by her father to an altar banked with bouquets of white gladioli and plum-poms, the bride wore a floor length gown of Alencon lace dramatized by an overskirt of silk organza flowing into a chapel length train, the center of which was accented by two lace cabbage roses and edged in lace. Identical lace appliques studded with seed pearls and sequins traced the long-sleeved hasque bodice and re-appeared on the bouffant skirt.

A crown adorned with seed pearls and sequins held her shoulder-length veil in place, and she carried a crescent bouquet of white carnations centered by a white orchid.

Mrs. George Dath, matron of honor, wore a bell skirted gown with scooped neckline and capped sleeves of lavender silk organza over taffeta with a crown of roses in a matching hue. Her crystal jewelry was a gift of the bride and she carried a natural orchid backed by white lace.

Dressed identically with Mrs. Dath were Sharon Kuchenbecker and Annis Weber, sister of the bridegroom, who were bridesmaids.

Pamela Kuchenbecker, flower girl, wore a ruffled frock of shell pink with matching headband studded with roses of a matching hue. She carried a basket of lavender mum petals.

Kenneth Weber served as his brother's best man and ushers were Raymond Stytz and Joost Sluis, brother of the bride.

An afternoon reception was held at the Young American's Club in Joliet.

Mrs. Sluis attended her daughter's wedding, wearing a shell pink sheath of embroidered silk organza with a straw and silk organza cloche in a matching hue. Her slippers and gloves were white. Mrs. Weber, the bridegroom's mother, donned a sheath of cypress green eyelet accented by a large taffeta bow on the hipline, with white organza hat and accessories.

Following a wedding trip, the couple are presently residing at 11501 W. 192nd Street, Mokena.

Game Banned In England for 300 Years

Football's Lively History

No game demands more teamwork strength, courage and alertness or provides a more thrilling spectacle than football — king of autumn sports in the United States.

It's a safe bet that few games have as lively a history.

Football is an ancient sport. A game called harpaston was played by the Spartans as early as 500 B.C. In this game a ball was kicked, passed, or carried across the opponents' goal line, according to researchers for Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia.

Strikingly similar to a modern football was the follis, used in Roman games. It was made of leather and inflated with air, but evidently was propelled by foot, not by hand and arm.

A game called calcio, a modified form of harpaston, enlivened medieval tournaments in Italy. The players, 27 on a team, used line and backfield formations similar to those of football today. Princes, soldiers, and "the noble ladies and the people" cheered for their favorites.

A brawl-like kind of football was played in England as early as the 10th century and by the 12th it had become a national problem. The game was making London a bedlam. In addition, it was diverting yeomen from archery, the sport that fitted them to defend England. Hence football was banned by municipal laws and royal edicts beginning in 1365 when Edward III decided to prohibit the game for military reasons.

Football was not fully reinstated until the 17th century when Charles II allowed many diversions formerly prohibited. A survey published in 1602 recorded that goals were set three or four miles apart and two or three parishes united to play others in games that sprawled over the countryside.

The sport began to take definite form at boys' schools. Some even drew up rules. These allowed the ball to be kicked, but not carried, toward the goal.

One November afternoon in 1823, something strange happened at Rugby, a famous boys' school. The score was tied in a football battle between two class teams. Dusk was setting. Suddenly a player named Ellis "with a fine disregard for the rules of football as played in his time, took the ball in his arms and ran with it" across the goal line. The score was not allowed. The event made history, however, and began Rugby football from which the American game is directly descended. A tablet at Rugby commemorates Ellis' exploit. By 1863 the new game of Rugby by had become very popular. Those who clung to the old idea that football should be played by kicking the ball met in London and formed the Football Association. Thereafter this game was known as "Association football" or "soccer" — a jumbled abbreviation of the word association.

Soccer still holds to the pre-Rugby style of game and uses a round ball. The ball, after being put in play, may not be carried or touched by the hands or arms, except by the goalkeeper. It is advanced chiefly by kicking and dribbling with the feet. A goal is scored when the ball is kicked underneath the crossbar of the goal posts.

Rugby, the parent of intercollegiate football, is little played in the U.S. In the British Isles, however, it is so important that disputes over rules are taken before an international board composed of representatives from the Rugby Unions of England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland. Rugby resembles the American game in that the ball is oval and may be advanced by carrying, passing and kicking. It differs notably in having 15 men to a team and in placing a higher premium on field goals.

Football probably was brought to American by the English colonists who established Jamestown in 1607. Compton researchers point out. An inflated pig bladder usually served as the ball for these early games. Women played, too, because throwing and passing were more important than kicking.

Early in the 19th century, football games were played at Harvard and Yale to determine class supremacy between freshmen and sophomores. The "games" were hardly more than mass rushes and "slug fests." In 1860 authorities at Harvard and Yale ended these brawls and Harvard students held a mock funeral for "Football Fought."

An important step toward making football a recognized sport was the organization of the Oneida Football Club of Boston in 1862. The founder of this "first organized football club in the U.S." was Gerrit Smith Miller.

The first American intercollegiate football game grew out of rivalry between Princeton and Rutgers. On Nov. 6, 1869, the contest took place at New Brunswick, N.J., and Rutgers won 6 goals to 4. The game was played with 25 men on a side. A few days later Princeton won at its home field, 8 goals to 0, but rivalry between the two colleges became so bitter that school authorities forbade a third and deciding game.

In 1875 Harvard and the McGill University Football Club of Canada introduced the Rugby principle of running with the ball. The two teams played part of one contest under Harvard (soccer) rules and the remainder of the game under the Rugby rules of McGill. Rugby impressed Harvard players so favorably that they decided to abandon what was called the "somewhat sleepy type of game" then played.

By 1876 the right to run with the ball was generally recognized.

Other milestones from football's lively history: In 1873, the University of Michigan challenged Cornell and arrangements were made to play at Cleveland, 30 men on a side. The proposed game never took place because Andrew Dickson White, then president of Cornell, ruled: I will not permit 30 men to travel 400 miles to agitate a bag of wind.

In 1880, Walter Camp, the "father of American football", persuaded the rule makers to reduce the number of players on a team from 15 to 11 and to replace "scrum" with scrimmage, whereby the ball was put into play either by kicking it or snapping it back. The position of quarterback was also created in 1880.

In 1882 Camp introduced a rule calling for surrender of the ball to the opponents if the ball had not been advanced at least 5 yards in three plays. This was the origin of the 10 yards-four downs rule.

In 1896, A.A. Stagg helped organize the Western Conference or Big Ten which pioneered in setting up and enforcing eligibility rules and amateur standards.

In 1901, Fielding H. (Hurry-up) Yost, football coach at the University of Michigan, produced a famous team built around a freshman, Willie Heston, which scored nearly a point for each minute of play. It amassed 550 points in 11 games and kept its opponents scoreless.

In 1906, the rule makers revolutionized the game by barring all mass plays and introducing the forward pass which led to a more open style of play. More spectacular than either Stagg or Yost was Glenn S. "Pop" Warner who took over the football team at the Carlisle Indian School in 1899 and subsequently introduced the unbalanced line with single and double wing backs to create what was called the "Warner system" of play. Professional football started at Latrobe, Pa., in 1895, the National Football League was formed in 1921 and in 1960 the American Football League began play with teams in eight major cities.

Tinley Couple's Bid On Island Is A Trifle Low

(CNS) A Tinley Park couple were the farthest-off bidders among 29 Wednesday to buy from the government an 80-acre unnamed island in the Mississippi river, 200 feet offshore from Cassville, Wis., 40 miles north of Dubuque, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Mihalovits, 17241 Overhill avenue, Tinley Park, bid $80,80 for the eighty acres, "just as a lark", said Mrs. Mihalovits, who came down to witness the bid opening. They wanted the site for camping having seen it often, she said.

High bidder was Dairyland Power Cooperative, of La Crosse, Wis., with $25,250. It will erect another power station on the island, across from a present one in Cassville. Runerup was the village of Cassville, with a bid of $15,280, seeking to make a park out of the island.

Since 1941, when the government acquired it, the island has been used as a wildlife center, accessible to hunters. This will be removed by the power company, said Thomas Gray, assistant general manager.

He said he was not worried about a customary clause in the contract whereby the government can reclaim the island if it needs to be flooded for navigation purposes. This clause has seldom if ever been used, said Dominic Tesaro, local head of the General Service administration which handled the bids. Final award of the contract will be in Washington.
